Girls Rising Collective Foundation, Inc., is a well-known leader in the development and empowerment of women and girls. Their global movement stands out compared to other charity organizations as they are motivated by kindness and great compassion for females.

Changing their name to Kindah™ Foundation, Inc., reflects their dedication to raising awareness of cervical and ovarian cancer, breaking of educational barriers, health disparities among women and girls, and their future plans. They are very excited to launch officially their new corporate identity with a name that aligns to their Corporation's value proposition.

Bridgett Parris, President and CEO of Kindah™ Foundation, Inc., believes the name "Kindah™ Foundation" will encompass their vision and mission in a unique way, thereby allowing them to represent their organization in an exclusive manner. In 2013, when the corporation was founded, their goal was to enable projects and programs to span multiple States and Countries in the Caribbean. In response to member's demand and making their goal a reality, they will be introducing new amazing projects and programs that would affect more lives positively such as the Educational Outreach Project, Teen Teal Project, Sister Circle of Strength Program, and IRISE e-Mentoring Program.

While their name has changed, their legal status, office mailing and contact details will remain the same. The corporation's business remains fundamentally unaffected by this change and all contracts with their existing suppliers will continue to be unaltered, with corresponding obligations and rights assumed under the new name. They are confident that the name Kindah™ Foundation Inc., will be beneficial to the corporation and everyone they serve.

They would like to utilize this opportunity in thanking all their loyal members, volunteers, interns, committees, directors, especially their donors, sponsors and business partners, for the continuous strong support and they wish all a better and prosperous 2016.
